The Power of Communication

People in Greenwich, Connecticut, are up in arms about an issue plaguing their communities...

Forget the economy, crime, politics or education, the hot topic there is leaf-blowers. Lawmakers, for a while, had considered an all-out ban on the landscaping tool, declaring them a nuisance and even a threat to public health.

The city had already enacted laws to regulate hours of use, and even the number of blowers allowed in one area at any one time. Banning leafblowers won't solve the problem, communication will.

Harvest recently won the Building Industry Association of Southern California's 50-Plus Smart Choice Award for creating and maintaining landscapes that enhance the health and well-being of the people living in the communities we serve.

We take care to reduce noise, pesticides, fertilizers and other concerns.

Water District Rebates Make Conservation Even Easier

We tip our hats to the Moulton Niguel Water District, which has been helping many of our clients save water and money with generous rebates through its Water Efficiency Rebate Program for the purchase and installation of water-efficient devices.

The program is available to all MNWD customers living in Aliso Viejo, Laguna Niguel, Laguna Hills, Mission Viejo and Dana Point.

We've been able to help several of the communities we serve apply for and receive these MNWD rebates on their water-saving projects. The rebates are offered retroactive to any project done after July 2011, so even if you've already completed the work, you may still be eligible for a cash reward. Many water districts offer similar financial incentives to conserve.

If you aren't a customer of MNWD, be sure to ask us what rebates are available in your area.

Harvest to Attend CAI National Conference in May

We are proud to be attending the Community Associations Institute's National Conference next month at Cesar's Palace in Las Vegas. The annual conference is one of the most important events in the industry. It's a place where place where community managers, community volunteers and business partners come together to hear new ideas and get cutting-edge insight into our constantly changing industry.

Thanking Those Who Make a Difference at Harvest

running. Administrative Assistant Day comes just once a year, but it's important to acknowledge that we appreciate them, and depend on them, each and every day.

We often talk about Harvest Landscape as family. Many of our employees have been with us for 20 or 30 years. Others have celebrated significant milestones in their personal or professional career with us. This month, we honored yet another segment of our staff: those who work behind the scenes in the office to keep the business

Harvest Orange Hits the Greens at IndustryTourney

Team Harvest took part in this month's CAI Golf Tournament held at the Mission Viejo Golf Course and Mission Viejo Country Club. Harvest was a "Water Hole Sponsor" for this 24th annual event, where besides beverages, we served snacks to help the golfers get through their long active afternoon: the only criteria being that all the snacks had to be in shades of Harvest Orange. Weather for the day was drizzly and overcast; our orange Harvest set-up was the brightest spot on the links that day.

We believe in working with clients to develop a practical yet effective maintenance routines that get the job done with minimal impact to residents.

In short: We believe in the power of communication, and that starts with being accessible.

Do you have an issue or concern? Give me a call. Let's work together to resolve it.
